The fundamental genetic kinship of all the ethnic groups of mankind would, therefore, seem to be clear. We know that Neanderthal man was hardly as highly developed culturally as the modern white or Negro.

Feelings and thoughts concerning such a concept as "race" are real enough, and we'll publish them on our site once we've reviewed. User lists Similar Items. National Library of Australia. Of course not. Such a conception of "race" has no basis in scientific fact or in them "race" represents a compound of physical, mental, personality, and cultural traits which determines the behavior of the individuals inheriting this alleged compound.
